As part of its ongoing effort to be a full-service health and wellness resource center, the Food Bank of Yolo County has rolled out a new monthly Agency Spotlight feature on its Web site.

The Food Bank, which supports more than 70 local agencies, will run a month-long feature story on its Web site every month to highlight the accomplishments of its partner agencies. Food Bank leaders hopes that this effort will help raise awareness about the various health and human services available to Yolo County residents.

'Our job in helping feed the community would be much more difficult if not for the agencies we support,' Jose Martinez, executive director of the Food Bank, said in a news release.

The first agency to be featured is Cache Creek Lodge, a 39-bed co-ed residential substance abuse treatment center. The lodge has been helped individuals battling addiction to reclaim their lives since 1974. For more information and to view the Agency Spotlight, visit the Food Bank's Web site at <http://www.foodbankyc.org>.

The Food Bank of Yolo County, at 1244 Fortna Ave., in Woodland, began as an all-volunteer effort in 1970. For the past 40 years, the Food Bank has worked to meet the food and hunger needs of thousands of Yolo County residents by overseeing the solicitation, storage and distribution of food from an established network of growers, manufacturers, wholesalers and grocery stores.

The Food Bank continues to demonstrate its commitment to the people of Yolo County by offering unique volunteer opportunities, fostering a strong sense of community and promoting nutrition and healthy living in the region.
